SIR প্রক্রিয়া : বিহারের অভিজ্ঞতা

The revision of the electoral roll is a constitutional provision. After the recent transfer of power, the new government in this country sought at least to guarantee the people their right to vote. Hence, the central objective of revising the voter list was inclusion. This process has been carried out multiple times in keeping with that ideal. Since the 1990s, the revision of voter lists has been conducted regularly—and now, it is done every year on a regional basis.

Even so, the sudden call for an intensive revision drive just before the

A discussion on Palestine is essential. For Palestine embodies the history of a people becoming exiles in their own homeland. Across the world, communities are being displaced under the assault of capital. In our own country too, there is an insidious attempt to render people stateless in the name of SIR. These events across the globe are not unrelated. In the face of extreme brutality, the unyielding resistance of Palestine stands as a symbol of hope for all struggling peoples around the world.

Alternative Viewpoint invites everyone to join the webinar titled “Iran in Revolt: Beyond Campism and Theocracy”, hosted by Jeddojehad.com. Featuring Frieda Afary and Nasrin Parvaz, the discussion addresses both Western campism and the authoritarian logic of the Islamic Republic. By combining socialist analysis with the lived experiences of repression and resistance, it challenges comforting geopolitical binaries. Moderated by Farooq Sulehria, the webinar explores what a genuinely emancipatory future for Iran might entail—and why it is significant at this moment.
